Welcome to the FOLLE!

Hey Fae, welcome Home to the FOLLE!
It's lovely to have you here <3

What is this?

The FOLLE aims to be your main source of information and clarity for any questions you might have about Folleterre. Want to organize a gathering? You have a project for the sanctuary but you feel alone and overwhelmed? We've got you covered (we hope). Feel free to use the handy search bar at the top.

This isn't just a repository of information; it's a living organism fed by the experiences, struggles, and revelations of faeries who've walked these paths before you. Here, the mundane mechanics of sanctuary life dance with the deeper mysteries of radical faerie existence. You'll find practical guidance on everything from organizing gatherings to understanding the delicate ecosystems—both natural and social—that make Folleterre breathe.

Whether you're seeking clarity on proposal processes, wanting to understand our consensus-building traditions, or simply curious about the deeper currents that flow through our sanctuary life, know that your questions are welcome here. The library grows with each faerie who contributes their learning, their mistakes, their breakthroughs, and their dreams.

1. FIRE SAFETY

This is the most important one

But also if you have any sort of anxiety or neurodivergence or this is looking way too much like a sex cult
